

72
Manchester, December 10, 1788.

Horfe-Stealing.

WHEREAS one of the STABLES of JAMES KENWORTHY, at the Upper Royal Oak Inn, in MANCHESTER, was BROKE OPEN THIS MORNING, betwixt the Hours of Three and Four, and from thence was stolen,

A handsome Dark-bay MARE,

Of the riding Kind, rising six Years old, about 14 Hands 3 Inches high, has a Star in her Forehead, a black Mane and Tail remarkably thick of Hair, carries her Tail rather low, and falls off at the hind Quarter, both hind Feet white to the mid Leg, rather twists or turns in her hind Feet in her walk, dark fore Legs, and had on very heavy broad web'd Shoes, has some white Saddle Marks on each Side, and was bled in the off Side the Neck the Day before she was stolen.

Whoever will discover the Offender or Offenders, so as he, she, or they may be convicted thereof, shall receive a Reward of TEN GUINEAS from the said JAMES KENWORTHY.

MANCHESTER: HARROP, PRINTER.

